'High School Musical 3' in the works

By JENNIFER DOBNER
Associated Press Writer

SALT LAKE CITY
In real life, Zac Efron is just as cute — maybe cuter — than he is dancing and singing as Troy Bolton in Disney's wildly popular "High School Musical" movies.

That's the assessment from 10-year-old Eden Withers, who got a close look at Efron during a news conference at East High School to mark the filming of "High School Musical 3: Senior Year."

Her seat among a bunch of reporters came courtesy of her dad, who runs the Salt Lake City School District.

"I just really, really like the show and I think Zac is cute," Eden said with a blushing giggle and grin.

"HSM3" began filming here on May 3 and opens in movie theaters Oct. 24.

The third installment finds basketball star Troy and pals Gabriella, Sharpay, Ryan, Chad and Taylor facing graduation and choices about their future.

Will it be basketball or the theater? Will Troy and Gabriella stay a couple or split to attend different colleges?

Efron and co-stars Vanessa Hudgens, Ashley Tisdale, Corbin Bleu and Monique Coleman weren't dishing any secrets on the last day of rehearsals.

Cast members claim they're not feeling pressure to top the success of the two previous films.

The franchise debuted in 2006 as a Disney Channel original movie and quickly became an international hit seen by more than 250 million viewers in 100 countries and 20 languages.

The sequel's August 2007 premiere was seen by 18.6 million viewers, becoming the top basic cable telecast of all time. Disney says the DVD release topped all sales records for 2007 and the movie's soundtrack went triple platinum.

"I kind of think of it as the third act," said Efron, whose turn as Troy opened the door to roles in other films. "This is the third movie. We're not looking to top anything, just to do it justice."

The only pressure, said Hudgens, is making the movie for the big screen, not TV.

He was shot to death the day before his 45th birthday on April 1, 1984 — by his own father. Everyone remembers the death of Marvin Gaye. And everyone remembers the music he made. But the life he lived isn't nearly as familiar. A new "American Masters" portrait, "Marvin Gaye: What's Going On," aims to fill in the gaps.

TV Highlights

Gaye's early hits included "I Heard it Through the Grapevine," as well as romantic duets with Tammi Terrell, who died from a brain tumor in 1970 after collapsing in his arms on stage during a concert. This tragedy drove him to write and record his seminal album "What's Going On" (1971). A decade later, "Sexual Healing" was his final hit.

Along the way, Gaye battled depression and substance abuse. Adding to his burden was the stormy relationship with his father, a traveling minister and strict disciplinarian at whose hands he died after an argument.

The documentary hears from Nick Ashford, Mos Def, Berry Gordy, Gladys Knight and Smokey Robinson, among others. It airs 9 p.m. Wednesday on KET.

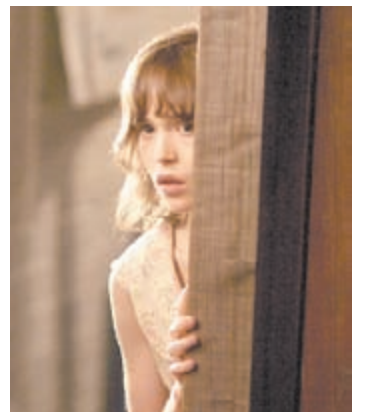

Immediately following at 10 p.m. on KET is "Aretha Franklin: Queen of Soul."

Another show to look out for this week is "An American Crime," which stars Ellen Page in the dramatization of a tragedy that will still shock you 40 years after it happened.

Adapted from real life, "An American Crime" takes an unflinching look at a gruesome exercise of human cruelty and complicity.

The setting is Indianapolis of 1965, where 16-year-old Sylvia Likens and her youngster sister Jennie are left by their parents in the temporary custody of Gertrude Baniszewski, a single mother of five who's coming unbound.

As Gertrude inflicts her punishment on Sylvia in escalating ways, the film is terribly disturbing to watch. Its saving grace: the performance by Catherine Keener as a pathetic monster, and, even more remarkable, Ellen Page ("Juno") in the role of the preyed-upon teen.

Drawing from transcripts of the murder trial (Bradley Whitford plays the prosecutor), "An American Crime" examines the big questions arising from this case: How could anyone have done what this woman did? And why didn't anybody come to Sylvia's rescue in the weeks her torture and imprisonment raged on?

This film shows, and makes you feel, how painfully elusive the answers are.
